

Hard-target training moves neutral behaviour more than swapping the medicine does

